Abstract

These papers document the personal, professional and social life of the Biddle family over a 237 year period. Influential in many aspects of Philadelphia business and society, the family was very large and mixed with several other Philadelphia families. The Rush, Williams and Brock families all contribute correspondence, financial and legal documents to this collection. These families became a part of the larger Biddle family through marriage.

Background note

The Biddle family was a wealthy and prominent clan in Philadelphia's early years. They were involved with the city's financial, legal, and mercantile affairs and were also patriots with extensive military careers. Several different families married into the Biddle family including the Rush, Williams, and Brock families, all of which are represented in this collection.

Biddle Family

The collection begins with Clement Biddle (1740-1814) who married Rebekah Cornell and had three children; Thomas A. (1776-1857), Clement Cornell (1784-1855) and James Cornell (1795-1838). James married Sarah Keppelle and had two children; Thomas and Caldwell. This branch of the family is not represented in the collection.

Clement Cornell Biddle married Mary Barclay and had two children; George Washington (c. 1818-1879) and Chapman (1822-1880). Some correspondence can be found in the collection relating to these two individuals. There are, however, discrepancies with the birth and death dates and dates of correspondence from George Washington Biddle. There may have been two George W. Biddle's or difficulty in determining his birth and death dates.

The large majority of the collection belongs to Thomas A. Biddle's branch of the family. Thomas married Christine Williams (1780-1861), thus linking the Williams and Biddle families. Together they had at least five children; Clement (1810-1879), Thomas A. (1814-1888), Henry J. (1817-1862), Alexander (1819-1899), and Jonathan W. (1821-1856). While there are a few documents from all of these individuals most of the items come from Alexander's descendants.

Alexander Biddle married Julia Williams Rush (1833-1898) linking the Biddle and Rush families. Their seven children are; Alexander W. (b.1856), Henry Rush, (1858-1877), Julia (1859-1885), J. Wilmer (1861-1927), Louis A. (b.1863), Marianne or Marion (b.1865), and Lynford (1871-c. 1943). While all of Alexander and Julia's children have some items in the collection, most come from Louis A., Lynford and Alexander W.

Alexander W. married Anne McKennan (1858-1937) and their five children have papers in the collection as well. Pauline (b. 1880), Christine A. (b. 1882), Julia Rush (b. 1886), Isabel (b. 1888), and Alexander (b. 1893) are those with some impact on the collection. Pauline married John Penn Brock adding the Brock family into the fold.

Williams Family

As stated earlier the Biddle and Williams families were joined with the marriage of Thomas A. Biddle and Christine Williams. Items in the collection date back to the marriage between Jonathan Williams and Grace Harris, who was a niece of Benjamin Franklin. Jonathan and Grace had seven children; Josiah (1748-1772), Jonathan Jr. (1750-1815), Elizabeth (b. 1753), John (b. 1756), Anne (b. 1759), Sally (1761-1765) and Franklin (1763-1775). The collection concerns Jonathan Jr.'s branch of the family. His marriage to Marianne Alexander (d. 1816) produced three children; Christine (d. 1780), Alexander (1790-1814) and Henry J. (1791-1876). Jonathan also had a son from a previous relationship, Josiah (b. 1777).

There are a few materials from Alexander in the collection as well as from Henry J. Henry J. married Julia Rush (1792-1860) but the Rush family was brought into the Biddle family by the marriage between Alexander Biddle, son of Christine Williams Biddle, and Julia Williams Rush. It is not clear whether Henry and Julia had any children.

Rush Family

In regards to the collection the Rush Family saga begins with the prominent Philadelphia doctor and patriot Dr. Benjamin Rush (1745-1813). Benjamin married Julia Stockton and had several children. Those represented in the Biddle Family papers are Richard (1780-1859), Julia (1792-1860) and Samuel (1795-1859). Richard married Catherine Murray, Julia married Henry J. Williams and Samuel married Anne Wilmer. Samuel and Anne had three children; James (1829-1831), William and Julia Williams who married Alexander Biddle as previously mentioned. Julia's grand-daughter, Pauline, married John Penn Brock.

Brock Family

Although not many, there are a few materials in the collection relating to the Brock and Coleman families. George Dawson Coleman married Debbie Brown and had seven children including Sarah and Debbie N. Coleman. Sarah married Arthur Brock and had four children. Debbie married Horace Brock and had two children; John Penn Brock and Deborah Norris. Deborah Norris married Quincy Bent and had Horace Brock Bent who married Mira Van Pelt. Pauline Biddle and John Penn Brock had four children; Anne Biddle, Horace, Deborah Norris and Alexander Biddle.<sup>1</sup>

Scope & content

The eclectic group of items arranged in this collection range in date from 1683 to 1954. The majority of documents, however, date from 1776 to 1920. Early documents are primarily correspondence interspersed with some deeds and financial materials. Series follow a chronological arrangement except where otherwise noted. Later years include these materials as well as invitations, legal documents, advertisements, photographs, and a myriad of items relating to leisure activities.

Series 1, which contains the majority of the collection, includes materials of various members of the Biddle family. Documents date from 1776 to 1940 and are arranged in subseries by individual. Among the individuals represented are: Clement Biddle, Thomas A. Biddle, Christine Williams Biddle, Alexander Biddle, Alexander W. & Anne McKennan Biddle, Louis A. Biddle, and Lynford Biddle. There is a small amount of material pertaining to other family members, as well as a subseries of miscellaneous items. A large portion of the Biddle Family series consists of correspondence between family members and with some business associates. Receipts and financial documents from Thomas Biddle & Co. can be found in the Thomas A. Biddle subseries. The Alexander Biddle subseries contains more information on trips abroad than family or business matters. The Louis A. Biddle and Lynford Biddle subseries contain some estate papers from their father, Alexander Biddle's, estate. In addition these two subseries include many invitations to social gatherings, balls, clubs, and hunting parties. Papers belonging to female family members are almost exclusively comprised of family correspondence, much of which is filled with rich descriptions of daily activities.

The Louis and Lynford Biddle subseries also contain stock listings and some execution orders. Lynford Biddle was particularly active in the stock market and much remains in the collection from stocks he bought and sold. It does not appear Lynford or Louis were stock brokers, but rather, investors. Lynford's papers also contain automobile purchase receipts and car insurance for a few Pierce Arrow automobiles. The Miscellaneous subseries also contains much of this same information as the rest of the series but could not be identified as belonging to a particular family member.

Series II contains papers of the Williams family. It too is arranged in generational subseries, but it is a much smaller series than the Biddle Family series. Jonathan Williams Jr., Marianne Alexander Williams, Julia Rush Williams, Other family members, and Miscellaneous are the subseries. Following in the manner of the Biddle family, the women's papers are particularly strong in family correspondence. A significant portion of Jonathan Williams Jr. papers are his letters to his wife Marianne. The bulk of the Henry J. Williams subseries consists of correspondence and financial documents of a business nature.

The few Jonathan Williams Sr. items can be found in the Other family members subseries. In addition, the Alexander family papers are located here. These papers are arranged alphabetically by first name and then chronologically. As Marianne Alexander Williams is a member of the Alexander family many of her cousins and relatives wrote not only to her but to her husband and Biddle and Williams family members. The Miscellaneous subseries contains eight folders of notes on women's education. Unfortunately, these notes have no date or attributed author.

Series III, Rush family, is small with only one box and one volume. The majority of genealogical information in the collection can be found here, however. Items are arranged into four subseries; Dr. Benjamin Rush, Richard Rush, Other family members, and Miscellaneous. Most of the items are random correspondence from the early 1700s to the mid 1800s. Unfortunately the Rush correspondence does not paint as clear a picture of family life as the Biddle and Williams correspondence. Dr. Rush did assemble some genealogical notes, however, relating the lineage of the Rush family. "Descendants of John & Susannah Rush" traces the family history from 1683 to 1878.

Series IV, the Brock family, is the smallest series in the collection and includes just one box. Estate wills of the Brock and Coleman families can be found here. There is also a small amount of correspondence belonging to Pauline Biddle Brock as well as a few of her diaries from her youth and soon after her marriage to John Penn Brock.

The most diverse series is the fifth, Miscellaneous. Items include correspondence and documents that could not be concretely associated with one of the families above. Advertisements, invitations, deeds, financial and legal items and publications are also in the series. There is a small section of items relating to Yarrow & Van Pelt business ventures. It appears from the documents Yarrow & Van Pelt dealt primarily with real estate. It is unclear how they relate to the rest of the collection, but perhaps the connection is through Mira Van Pelt, who married Horace Brock Bent, son of John Penn Brock's sister.

The Miscellaneous series also includes photographs, though most are unidentified. Among the identified sitters are Lynford, Alexander, and Nicholas Biddle.

Series descriptions

Series 1. Biddle Family, 1776-1940. (Boxes 1-17)

Unless noted, items are arranged by type of document and chronologically.

a. Clement Biddle, 1776-1813.

Papers in this subseries date to the revolutionary period and include correspondence from John Shaw and William Bayly. Some correspondence also deals with financial matters requesting and authorizing payments. Unfortunately these items are very limited and do not present a comprehensive picture of Clement's business dealings.

a. Thomas A. Biddle, 1797-1846.

The items in this section are business oriented, many having to do with Thomas Biddle's company. While some correspondence from Thomas's wife, Christine, reveals private family matters, much of the correspondence is concerned with land holdings and taxes. Thomas owned land in Easton, Pennsylvania, and correspondence reveals his holdings and purchase inquiries. Documents also show that he owned land in Michigan. Although Thomas died in 1857, letters dated after his death are included in this series because they relate to his business, which was presumably carried on by his sons. These items regard purchase inquiries and land taxes. The John Cadwalader papers from 1818 to 1840 also concern lands and mortgages in Easton, PA between John B. Wallace and Thomas.

A smattering of John G. Biddle documents from 1822 to 1827 reveals he was a partner with Thomas and they were both in the stock brokerage business. Correspondence from Anne Smith of Easton, Pennsylvania reaffirms this. Under the financial burden of debt, cost of living, and a sick child, Anne requested that Thomas sell some of her stocks.

Business documents of receipts, certificates and bills from his business dealings are located in the subseries as well.

b. Christine Williams Biddle, 1794-1856.

This sub-series contains correspondence from Christine's husband, Thomas, as well as other friends and family. In the letters family members relate travel news and give counsel and advice. Some letters discuss business matters and investments pertaining to Thomas and other family members. Many letters from her children are in the subseries as well. Christine's relatives on the Alexander side of her family are referenced frequently. Researchers looking for letters to the Alexander relatives should see Series 2 (Williams family).

c. Alexander Biddle, 1858-1897.

This series provides a look into both the personal and professional life of Alexander Biddle. Business documents such as bills of lading dating to 1843 showing shipments of hemp and indigo find a home in this subseries. Correspondence and invoices from business associates are also located here. Alexander served on many company boards and was active in the stock market according to a variety of documents arranged chronologically. In addition, Alexander liked to travel. Letters from his travels can be found in his children's and wife's subseries. Diaries, receipts and souvenir items from his travels can be found in this subseries.

Other items of note are the 1859 will of his wife, Julia, a schedule of legacies or distributive shares from his properties and a "Dr. Moon's type for the Blind.14." A December 9, 1893 letter from the National Reform Association indicates Alexander was interested in divorce reform. The group wanted reform and standard laws for marriage and divorce in all states.

d. Julia Williams Rush Biddle, 1844-1898.

Included in this subseries are letters Julia received from her father while he was in Mississippi. Other correspondence includes letters from her daughters and sympathy letters from 1898. These letters do not indicate who died. Around the time these letters arrive Julia had left her Chestnut Hill home for Atlantic City.

e. Alexander W. & Anne McKennan Biddle, 1879-1919.

This series is more personal, with invitations and correspondence relating the goings-on of their associates. Included is a grouping of letters from a friend of Anne's who was on a cruise in Havana.

f. Louis A. Biddle, 1874-1916.

Items in this and the Lynford Biddle subseries reflect a more laid back style life from their other relatives. While there are some financial documents and telegrams most of the items relate to social and leisure pursuits. These include memberships in the Germanton Cricket Club, Racquet Club, Philadelphia Club and gun clubs. One item indicates Louis was Chairman of the Elective Committee of "Racquet Club" in 1893. Another states that on December 13, 1906, Louis was suspended from the Philadelphia Club Clubhouse by its Board of Directors for "conduct in the clubhouse from Nov. 30-Dec. 3rd 1906 prejudicial to the interests of the club under by-law LIV."

Louis's profession isn't certain, although many items in the subseries suggest he may have had a farm with a kennel and was possibly a dog breeder. The limited correspondence show requests to Louis for dogs. Louis was a member of the Philadelphia Dog Show Association and American Fox Terrier Club.

There are not many letters from other family member in the subseries. One item does provide an interesting looking at Ivy League collegiate life. On September 18, 1874, brother Henry Rush Biddle wrote of his first few "easy" weeks at Princeton. "There are a great number of college rules but very few of them are strictly enforced" including a 9pm curfew but "students never think of minding it."

g. Lynford Biddle, 1874-1816.

As with Louis Biddle, Lynford's profession is unclear. He was a member of many clubs such as the Roslyn, Riverton and Carteret gun clubs. He was also an avid cricket player with many items in the collection from the Philadelphia Cricket Club. While there is limited correspondence, he received many invitations to social events and balls as well as thank you notes and requests for game, duck, and fish. Lynford was possibly a horse breeder. A registry certificate from the American Hackney Society for registering a stud is located in the subseries.

Lynford was active in the stock market, Toland Brother's and Melor & Petry as his primary brokers. Certificates and receipts from Federation Stock, Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Co., U.S. Steel Corp., Pennsylvania Railroad, Missouri Pacific, Southern Railway Co., Amalgamated Copper, Palmarito Mining Co., Philadelphia Rapid Transit, Cambria Steel and Lehigh Valley Railroad Co. can all be found in the subseries.

Lynford also enjoyed automobiles as purchase and repair receipts for Pierce Arrow's are found in his papers. Correspondence from car dealerships and insurance policies for the cars are present as well. Researchers can find two policies in the collection. One dated Oct 6, 1912 from the Employer's Indemnity Company of Philadelphia insuring a 1909 Pierce Arrow Runabout for $50 and a November policy for a 1908 Pierce Arrow Touring insured at $80.

h. Other family members, 1776-1918.

This series includes many Biddle family members who are represented in the collection with only a few items. Individuals in this series are arranged alphabetically and then chronologically. Those present are Clark, Clement, Chapman, Christine, Christine A., Edward, Emily, Henry J., J. Williams, J. Wilmer, Julia Cox, Marianne (or Marion), Nicholas, Owen and George Washington Biddle. Documents relating to George W. Biddle include an 1804 bill of lading and correspondence. In addition there are several items pertaining to his work as supercargo in 1806 of the ship

Rousseau bound for Canton, China. Included are legal documents from a dispute with the ship's owner, Stephen Girard.

i. Miscellaneous, 1779-1921.

The most eclectic of the Biddle subseries is the last. Documents are grouped into type or subject matter and then arranged chronologically. A variety of Philadelphia advertisements and items relating to local leisure clubs start out the subseries. Some unattributed correspondence and financial documents are also located here. There are many invitations and announcements that point to the social life of the city as well.

Series 2. Williams Family, 1769-1895 (Boxes 17-24)

Unless noted, items are arranged by type of document and chronologically.

a. Jonathan Williams Jr., 1769-1815

Located here is correspondence regarding family matters, stocks, military issues and legal matters. Included are letters requesting stock information from Thomas Biddle. Jonathan had shares in Phoenix Insurance and requests American Fire Insurance shares but he leaves the particulars of the transaction to Thomas's discretion in one letter. There are some items referring to his father's will and legal papers regarding his marriage to Marianne Alexander and family debts. Many letters from his wife including some in French, talk about their young children who haven't seen Jonathan in a long time. A February 1789 letter reveals he was in France and could not return home until his debts were settled. The correspondence is rich in anecdotes and accounts from Marianne regarding their children. One letter in particular stands out informing Jonathan of "accidents" befalling their young children. Son Harry swallowed a pin in 1801 giving his mother great cause to worry about his health.

b. Marianne Alexander Williams, 1778-1816

Marianne's papers discuss the happenings of various family and friends. Items from Margaret and John Craig can be found among the correspondence with Margaret's letters frequently signed "M.C." In addition, letters from Marianne's Alexander family relatives relating daily news are also located here.

c. Henry J. Williams, 1792-1899

This series primarily relates to legal matters and business documents of Philadelphia lawyer, Henry J. Williams. Included are banking and land documents as well as correspondence. An 1836 agreement can be found here between Williams, John Cochran, Charles Peale, M. J. D. Withington, and Henry Baumgardner regarding land. Papers from an 1835-1846 property dispute involving John Aspden, the Neville & Eceles law firm and parties in London, England are found at the beginning of the series labeled "Aspden case."

Correspondence shows Henry was the Proprietor of the Bank of Scotland in 1818. Some items regarding legislature sent to Henry at the House of Representatives indicates he perhaps had a political career as well. There are letters from his Bradford family cousins in Boston and a congratulatory letter from his mother on induction into the Phi Beta Kappa honor society while at Dartmouth College. Many family history notes, including an inquiry into the Williams' pedigree from possible relative Stephen Williams are located in this subseries.

d. Julia Rush Williams, 1816-1877

This section is limited to some loose correspondence and one (disbound) volume of correspondence. The volume was titled Letters of Mrs. Julia Rush Williams and Henry J. Williams. It consists of letters between herself and her mother regarding visits with people as well as letters from her husband Henry.

e. Other family members, 1780-1865

Items in this series are arranged alphabetically, then chronologically. Jonathan Williams Sr. and Alexander Williams' papers are located in here. A small amount of Alexander family correspondence is located here as Marianne Alexander Williams was also a member of that family. The Alexander family also corresponded with Henry J. Williams and Christine Williams Biddle. Researchers may wish to refer to these subseries as well.

f. Miscellaneous, 1771-1895

Eight folders of notes discussing early American women's education are located in this subseries. There is no provenance information or context in which to place these notes. They were originally boxed with the Williams family papers, thus dictating their placement in this series.

Series 3. Rush Family, 1683-1869 (Boxes 24-25)

a. Dr. Benjamin Rush, 1769-1810.

Copies of typescript letters from Old Family Letters: Copied from the originals for Alexander Biddle replicated letters between Benjamin Rush and John Adams from 1809-1810 are located here. In the letters Rush beseeches Adams to write some sort of memoir. The letters serve as reflections by John Adams of the state of America and the early formation of the country. He noted and thanked Benjamin for supporting his views at times when no one else would. While the correspondence is one-sided, with only John's responses to Benjamin's letters, it is clear from a September 1 1809 letter that Benjamin felt he outlived his patriotism. There are also letters and documents relating to personal matters as well as deeds from 1795 to 1800.

b. Richard Rush, 1812-1865.

A small subseries, the Richard Rush papers consist of correspondence with his father, family members and various associates.

c. Other family members, 1790-1869.

Many family members are represented by a few documents in this series, including Benjamin, Jacob, Julia Stockton, James, and Anne Rush. A very spirited letter dated September 24, 1842 from Arabella Grumbler protesting a tax was sent to Dr. James Rush. In an August 25, 1848 letter while Anne Rush was vacationing in Saratoga she wrote to her husband James: "Your name is the best passport in the country." Correspondence and papers of Julia Stockton Rush, including a power of attorney, are also located in this section.

d. Miscellaneous, 1683-1897.

The miscellaneous papers include items not identified as belonging to one particular person in the Rush family. There are five folders of papers including some correspondence as well as one volume Descendants of John & Susannah Rush.

Series 4. Brock Family, 1788-1954 (Box 26)

The 1893-1924 diaries of Pauline Biddle Brock are located here. They record daily activities as well as adventures abroad. Included is an account on her honeymoon where she and husband, John Penn Brock, were forbidden to go to Italy because it was considered "unhealthy" in 1905. The 1892-1893 entries recount a voyage to Europe on the steamer City of New York and the activities and sickness on board. This series also include estate papers and some correspondence from the Brock and Coleman families.

Series 5. Miscellaneous, 1778-1937. (Boxes 26-28)

A variety of advertisements, leisure materials, correspondence, deeds, financial accounts, legal papers, publications, and religious notes are located in the series. Author or ownership could not be identified for any of the documents found here. However, there are about six photographs that depict members of the Biddle, Coleman and Williams families grouped with the other photographs. Yarrow & Van Pelt papers are located in this subseries. The items deal with health insurance for associates. Some of the correspondence indicates it was a realty firm with letters soliciting clients and regard rents paid and owed.

Alternative format

None.

Preferred citation

Cite as: [Indicate cited item or series here], Biddle Family Papers (Collection 1792), The Historical Society of Pennsylvania.

Processing note

Processing made possible by a grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

This collection was previously eight collections known as 1792 A, B, C, D, E, F, G, and H. Although the materials were acquired in these separate groups, the materials were clearly one time all a part of the same collection, and were therefore processed as one collection.
